[March 14.] PROSPECTUS OF "THE MEDIUM,"

A Newspaper to be published Daily and Weekly in New York and Washington City.

Such has been the progress of sectional feeling, that a mutual exchange of opinion between the North and the South has become indispensable to quiet the public mind and restore mutual confidence and good will.

With this view, it is proposed to applie to in the New World; a large ship is seen in the distance and Columbus, is in a small yeach, unfolding.

With this view, it is proposed to publish in New With this view, it is proposed to publish in New York and Washington City, a daily and weekly Newspaper, in which the ablest writers of both sections may present the facts and arguments upon which they rely, in support of the interests and institutions of each, under the hope that such a paper, conducted with fairness, moderation, and candor, and with an earnest desire to subdue sections.

tional prejudice, will obtain extensive circulation and exert a beneficial influence. Part of the plan is to invite, by an offer of premiums, prize essays on the subjects of British Abolition, British Commerce, British Finance British Banking, and British Diplomacy, and also on the American Tariff, American Commerce, American Banks, American Currency, and African Stavery. These questions, it is hoped will put in requisition the abiest pens of the whole country, and give to "The Medium" an interest and character which will secure for its amount. and character which will secure for it a support

As the machinery of commerce and of credit i now organized, our Banks and our Currency are the weaker parts of the British system, and the the weaker parts of the British system, and the ruinous effects of the expansions and contractions of the British Currency, caused by overtrading and specu ations of the British people and British Bankers, necessarily produce ruinous expansions and contractions of our Currency, which enable British financiers, by the use of their credit, without an advance of capital, to levy upon us enormout an advance of capital, to levy upon us enorm-ous sums in the shape of profits on exchange, in-teres tand commissions, inflicting at the same time severe losses by greatly depreciating the value of our labor and property.
"The Medium" will advocate a modification o

"The Medium" will advocate a modification of the laws regulating mail contracts with Railroad Companies, so as to authorize contracts for the perpetual use of Railroads upon the payment of an amount of five per cent. coupon bonds, chargeable on the revenues of the Department, upon which the interest, at six per cent., would be equal to the quarterly payments made under existing laws. It will further advocate a general system of free banking, under State laws, on deisting laws. It will further advocate a general system of free banking, under State laws, on deposits of bonds of the federal or State government, and, under proper guarantees and restrictions, on deposits of Railroad securities; because such a system would make the large sums invested in Railroads available as capital, and give vested in Kaliroads available as capital, and give a cheap, abundant and staple currency, and enable the farmer and the planter to obtain remunerating prices at home, instead of being compelled, as they now are, to send the products of their labor to the British market, to be sold there by British agents at British prices; and because such a modification of the laws regulating mail such a modification of the laws regulating mail contracts, and such a system of currency aided by such a modification of the tariff as will prevent fraud in the customs, and encourage our own industry, would consolidate the interests of the whole country, and abate sectional prejudice by obliterating the lines that had heretofore created it.

"The Medium" will not be a party paper, but republican and independent, treating men, measures and parties with a searching scutiny, guarding with a jealous vigilance the interest of the people of the United States against the dangerous influence of British Financiers and British Diplomacy.

PROSPECTUS

THE GLOBE-THE CONGRESSIONAL NEWS-

THE GLOBE—THE CONGRESSIONAL NEWSPAPER.

THE approach of Congress calls for the renewal of my proposals and preparations to spread its debates before the public. The success which has hitherto attended this undertaking it is hoped will continue, and enable me to perpetuate the full history of the proceedings and discussions of the body on which the destiny of the Republic depends.

The adoption of Congress has given the Globe an official character as the reporter of all that is said and done in the body. This sanction has been voted at every successive session for many years, and by members of all parties. The press, too, of all parties has borne testimony to the fidelative with which the duty thus confided has been performed. The annexed notices, taken at random from the general expression in favor of the work, are submitted in proof of its fullness, fairness, and usefulness. I am compelled to omit, for want of room, a page of notices which are in type

The great celerity with which the letter-writers for the distant press circulate through the telegraph their hurried accounts and views of the debates of Congress, renders more important than ever the full and exact official reports of the Congressional. Globe. The hasty, and in many instances ex parte, relations by telegraph of what occurs in Congress supersede, for the most part, the exact reports taken down by reporters, and which formerly, in a shape more or less abbreviated, went the rounds of the press. Now the telegraph accounts, with all their imperfections and variety of colorings, take the run of the country, and no press but the official of Congress ever publishes the full debate with the proceedings of both Houses unmutiated. Indeed, no newspaper can give them, and have room for advertissments and the miscellaneous matter essential to their existence. While, therefore, the telegraph administers to the eager appetite of the public for Congress news, and meets the necessities of the political press, by furnishing a rapidly-written epitome suited to the taste of its patrons, perfect information of what passes in Congress is greatly diminished. The circulation of the official reports has been, to some extent, cut off by the crude and diversified accounts which, flying along the electric wres, satisfies curiosity, and it is almost in vain that truth puts on his boots to follow. Still there are a great many men of leisure and thought who like to see what is actually said and done in Congress, and to judge for themselves, rather than to receive impressions altogether from galvanic bat teries. There are others, too, who, for the sake of the future, willingly patronize a work which preserves a full record of the doings of the great moving and controlling power of the Republic.

The undersigned has made preparations commendrate with the increased importance of umes, averaging 974 royal quarto pages each.

I will publish in the AFPENDIX for the next session all laws that may be passed during the session, which has not been done heretofore. Although this will increase in no small degree the will be the same that it has been for several years

The Daily Glose will be published during the session on a superfine double royal sheet. It will contain the debates as taken down by the report-session on a superime adouble royal salet. It will contain the debates as taken down by the reporters, and as sitered by the speakers, whenever they make any alterations; the current news of the day, and miscellaneous matter. The main object for publising the daily paper is, to enable Members to see their remarks in it, and alter them if they shall think proper before they are published in the Congressional Globe and Appendix.

The Congressional Globe and Appendix.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses of Congress, and printed on a double royal paper, with small type, (brevier and nonpareil,) in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages. The speeches of the Members, in this first form, are sometime condensed—the full report of the prepared speeches being reserved for the Appendix. All resolutions, motions, and other proceedings, are given in the form of the Journals, with the yeas and nays on every important question.

on. The APPENDIX is made up of the President's The APPENDIX is made up of the President's Annual Message, the Reports of the principal Officers of the Government that accompany it, and all Speeches of Members of Congress, written out or revised by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Glose, and usually makes about the same number of pages during a session.

During the first month or six weeks of a ses-

During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make two numbers a week—one of the Congressional Globe and one of the Appendix; but during the remainder of a session, there is usually sufficient matter for two or three numbers of each every week. The next session will be unusually interesting; therefore, we calculate that the Congressional Globe and Appendix together will make at least 3500 large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpareil. We furnish complete Indexes to both at the end of a session.

We will endeavor to print a sufficient number o surplus copies to supply all that may be miscarried, or lost in the mails; but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for fear that we should not be able to supply all the lost numbers.

work, the money paid by them for it will be re-funded to them whenever they return the numbers which have been received by them. I will give which have been received by them. I will give the subscription price for any previous volumes of the Congressional Globe or the Appendix, and will thank any person who will let me have them. I have a few copies of the back volumes of the Congressional Globe and Appendix for sale at $5 a volume bound, which it is probable will be disposed of soon; and when they are, they will then, no doubt, command at least $10 a volume, as they cannot be reprinted for less than that sum There are 25 back volumes.
